

Christina Cranshaw has been working in professional theatre in the Dallas-Fort Worth area spanning five years now. Her passion is to help create original, never seen before pieces of theatre that contain it's lesser utilized elements such as puppetry and mime to tell challenging, entertaining and empowering stories with a tight-knit ensemble of actors. She enjoys traveling all over the globe in hopes of honing and learning more about her craft.

Christina has studied under playwright, physical theatre artist, and Fort Worth native, Johnny Simons – Artistic Director of Hip Pocket Theatre, where she has had the pleasure to appear in many productions, including The Cabinet of Doctor Caligari, Killer Shrews, The Lake Worth Monster and the Land of Oz. She is very fortunate to add Bishop Arts Theatre Center to the list of places that have welcomed her into their creative spaces.
